DEDICATION

"The best laws, though sanctioned by every citizen of the state, will be of no avail unless the young are trained by habit and education in the spirit of the constitution."

ARISTOTLE

We, the Class of June 1957, would like to express our deepest appreciation to you, our parents and teachers, by dedicating our yearbook to you. You have truly given us the guidance and education that are necessary for us to become assets to our community.

We are now able to go out into the world and work to make it a better place for everyone to live in regardless of race, color or creed. You have given us the key to a world of peace, where our motto will be "Love thy neighbor."

We will do our utmost, with the help of God, to fulfill our obligation to mankind and you.

*"Music, where soft voices die,
Vibrates
in the memory."*

LOOKING TO

Our Responsibilities As Americans

Our full responsibilities as Americans can best be realized through the wholehearted participation of our citizenry in the legislative and judicial processes of democracy.

Because our country is a democracy, we can take an active part in the election of representatives who will stand for our personal, political ideals. This is the distinguishing factor between a democracy and a dictatorship.

In a democracy one can, according to his political viewpoint, vote for whoever he believes will represent his personal ideals and ideas best. In a dictatorship, the candidate is always pre-picked. If you do not vote for him (what other choice have you anyway?) you might become (in the candidate's view, or his party's estimation) an "enemy of the people," consequently risking punishment.

As an example, take the case of Hitler. Running on the Socialist ticket, he established a foothold in the government.

Then he changed the name of his party to the National Socialist German Workers Party, (shortened to Nazis) in an effort to get people to desert the socialists and join with him. As soon as he became dictator, he purged all political opposition including the old socialist party.

In the United States the leading candidates do not try to assassinate each other to gain power. There are no purges or blood baths following an election.

A lot of Americans have died for their beliefs in order to obtain for us those privileges which we take for granted. These political and civil rights are worth holding on to tenaciously. As long as we have these rights why not exercise them to the fullest?

Many of the recently oppressed countries, had been taken over by a dictator because of ignorance on the part of the people. Ignorance—plain unadulterated ignorance—is the most vicious enemy of any real democracy and the strongest ally of a dictatorship.

Is it worth the time and effort to strive for an education? A lot of students leave school with the idea that they have only been marking time there. Nothing could be further from the truth. Labor now offers high wages, thereby luring students from school, but what is the use of being financially secure but unhappy because of limited opportunities for any real advancement? Or what is the point of missing the real satisfaction of finding a worthwhile job, obtained because of your education?

Education ties in with politics and runs parallel with it. Too many people in recently oppressed countries were ignorant. Not stupid, actually, but ignorant. Many uninformed citizens of those nations succumbed to the charm of magnetic orators, and did not or could not analyze their words.

All of your dictators were splendid orators; they had to be because of the weakness of their issues, and had to depend on the mass emotions of the people to sway their opinions by demagoguery in order to drive their doctrines home, no matter how weak they were.

The importance of active participation in our government, cannot be underestimated. After all, our government stands for us and for no one else.

How can an ignorant uninformed public help our country in any way? We need an intelligent, informed, and ambitious citizenry interested in our government to carry on and promulgate our democratic policies.

FRANK GARON

THE FUTURE

The Opportunities of the Future

The opportunities of the future are tremendous. The many fields in which one may choose to spend his working life are far more numerous now than at any other period since the beginning of mankind.

The progress this country has made in the last fifty years is far greater than that which has ever been accomplished before, and we will progress even further in the next fifty years for we have the desire and the basic ingredients to do so. To enable us to carry out these dreams we must have the tools with which to work. These tools are knowledge, force, and persistence. Force and persistence must be used in pressing opportunities to the utmost. Knowledge is obtained mainly by formal education, but a great deal is lost as soon as it is acquired and must be relearned and practically applied in everyday life. To quote from the late Dr. John Dewey, a foremost educator: "We learn to do by doing."

Civic organizations, clubs, unions, and fraternal organizations provide many opportunities for the meeting of men and ideas. By taking an active part in such groups, the citizen has the chance of finding a more lucrative and self-satisfying job with possibilities of advancement. When he has a job that he finds enjoyable he does better work, which puts him in a better position to seek promotion. While he is working he is constantly learning new and different things, not only about his job, but about people in general and the peculiarities of human nature in particular. The individual who keeps himself alert and informed concerning his job and the world about him will discover the importance of educational alertness. There are many opportunities that a wide-awake employee can reach out for when he has trained himself to be aware of them. Then he never has to sit by and watch the other fellow get the breaks and blame his misfortune on bad luck.

Then there is the opportunity to make a successful marriage and establish a family. That opportunity is always available but the willingness to take on responsibility is less prevalent. It takes a mature and reasonable person to realize fully the tremendous benefits of married life, at the same time realizing the burdens of great responsibility to the marriage and to society that such a step entails. Through the lives of children one has the chance to enjoy life all over again, and the opportunity to bring them up to be good, strong, and healthy citizens. A good American is responsible for showing them right from wrong and seeing that they have everything possible in order for them to have as good a life as could be hoped for.

These are the opportunities of the future. Do you think that you can make the most of them?

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

The Importance of the Technically Trained in Industry

The common layman of today is basically more intelligent than his predecessor of twenty-five years ago, but no matter how smart he is or ever will be, all of his knowledge is in a general vein and not specific. While the general public has become better informed, industry has been advertising its lack of specialists, and its need of specifically trained manpower to operate its even more complex equipment. To alleviate this condition, men are trained to do specialized types of work which provide many opportunities for people who are technically inclined and have the proper academic background.

Today, every major industry revolves around the technician. He is, to industry, what the specialist is to the medical world. Most progress in research and science depends upon him, for it is he, and not the average worker, who discovers new and improved ideas and methods.

Leaders of industry have not been slow to recognize the value of research. They no longer depend on the individual inventor but are everywhere establishing laboratories to develop new methods, to improve old ones, and to lower manufacturing costs. To advance engineering research, more than a score of engineering colleges have established experimental stations employing men on a full-or part-time basis to carry on investigation and research.

Modern machines which are used in big business must produce high precision quality as well as quantity. The person who is called upon to operate these complex machines must have at least a basic understanding of the functions of the machine. Of course, a machine of such sensitivity is subject to breakdown. Here is where the technician steps in. His job is to service and keep the machine in good working condition.

Where once big business used to promote the white collar worker to the sales field, it now picks the technician to do the selling. With his broad knowledge of the manufacturing end of the business, and his understanding of a potential buyer's specifications, he can intelligently discuss and conclude business deals. He knows whether or not his company is capable of manufacturing the goods for which the customer is asking.

These are a few important aspects of industry in which a technician is considered a person of some significance.

Job Opportunities in the Commercial Field

There are many opportunities in the world today for students trained in the business field. All that the student needs is an opportunity for experience.

One who would enter upon a business career with reasonable assurance of success must have acquired essential skills, and possess an understanding of business principles.

For your business life to be successful, you must choose your own career, not something your parents have always wanted for you. You should have an objective to strive for, and as you grow your experience will expand.

Here at Central we have had available to us a wide variety of courses in skilled business subjects, ranging from Junior Business Training through Secretarial Practice to Accounting. There are innumerable opportunities in the business world as it stands today.

The working conditions and financial rewards that come with a career in the business world vary from position to position. Generally speaking, office work is clean, comfortable, and pleasant. In the Newark area the pay scale for workers in the business field ranges from the beginning clerk's stipend of approximately $45 a week to the fee of the most highly paid court stenographer whose technical skill is rewarded at the rate of $5 per hour.

To the conscientious and carefully trained graduate, the manifold opportunities in a career in the commercial and business fields present a stimulating challenge. The social and economic rewards are there for our asking.

FAZZINI THROWN HARD AT THE LINE

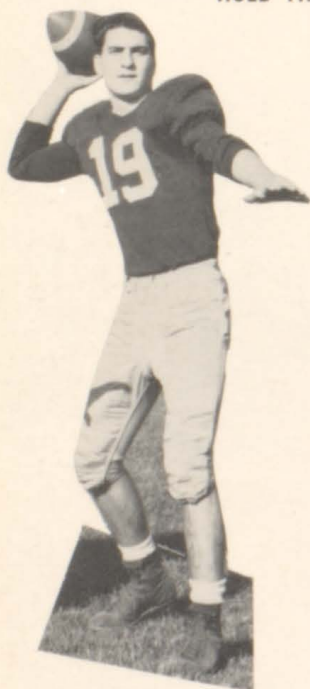

HOLD THAT LINE, CENTRAL!

COACH WISOT GIVING CIAVARRO LAST MINUTE INSTRUCTIONS

JOE CIAVARRO

Joe, our agile quarterback and a superb defensive player, working from the T formation, thrilled everyone with his long passes and quick ball handling.

MIKE KINDLER

Mike Kindler, well-built right tackle, gained a position on the All-City team. He was a good blocker both on the line and down field. On defense he made many tackles from his linebacker position and ran 75 yards for a touchdown with an intercepted pass against Weequahic.

ALONZO CUMBERLANDER

Alonzo, a transfer from Columbus, Ohio, amazed the crowds with his spectacular long runs which resulted in four touchdowns. His low tackles from defensive position were very accurately performed.

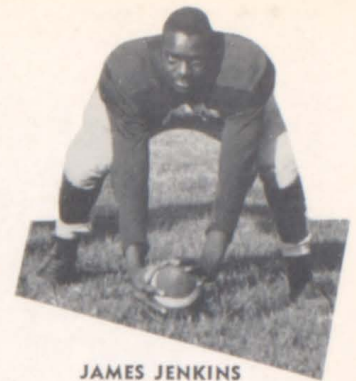

FRANK DAVIDE

Frank, a rugged end, proved a good receiver, scoring three touchdowns and an extra point, besides numerous catches which set up later scores. His switch from halfback proved successful, as he blocked very well on the line.

VINCENT D'ANTON

Vinnie, our guard, was fast and hard-hitting. A three-year veteran, he was especially effective in pulling out of the line on trap plays. He was active throughout the season despite an injured ankle.

JAMES JENKINS

Jim, with his smashing drives at left tackle, made many holes in enemy defenses. A two-year veteran, he was a fine line-backer and kicked several points after touchdowns for Central.

CENTRAL VARSITY TEAM - SEASON OF 1956

MARIO CICCONI

Mario, a fine center, played line-backer on defense, was a good ball handler, and fed our quarterbacks with a minimum amount of fumbles. He was a good blocker and played well on defense and offense.

JOHN PETROZZINO

A versatile halfback, John was a good runner and an exceptional passer. A three-year veteran, he provided the winning touchdown pass in the East Side upset, plus two passes good for scores in the Weequahic game.

WESTLEY WEAVER

Wes, a hard-hitting fullback, charged into the line off scrimmage like a bull, proved most effective on trap plays and did a fine job of blocking. He was a three-year veteran.

JOHN GALANTE

John, a rangy end, was considered one of the fastest men on the team. One of our three-year veterans, he blocked and played well on defense.

FOOTBALL TEAM

Our football team of last season provided many thrilling moments for us despite an unimpressive record of two wins, five losses and one tie. Two of our losses were by one point—7-6 to West Side and 13-12 to Barringer. We defeated Weequahic and East Side, the latter an upset win. We also surprised everyone with our last-minute tie with Seton Hall.

Ronnie, while leading the team in scoring, was also a fine playmaker. His calmness on the floor, combined with quick thinking led the team to their victories. He earned a berth on the All-City Second Team.

SOL FLEISCHMAN, Coach

BASKETBALL SQUAD

The Blue Devil Quintet was deserving of praise, recognition and thanks for their untiring drive for victory and their display of good sportsmanship. The boys played a terrific schedule giving the backboards, the score keepers, and the opposition a busy unforgettable season.

JAMES JENKINS

He went all out for the club. Jim rebounded well and scored heavily. This earned him a berth on the All-City Third Team.

RICHARD STROTHERS

Richie, while serving as the team's playmaker, brought us out of many a spot with his foul shooting and good spirits.

SOCCER TEAM

Our soccer team, in its first full season, did not do as well as was expected. With the help of our devoted coach, Mr. Reilly, and the fact that most of the boys will be back for another year, we should have a much improved team in the future.

CENTRAL HEADING FOR A GOAL

CLAUDE ELLIS

Claude played right half back well and showed great improvement by the end of the season.

ALVIN CLARK

Central's fast left half back was counted on for long kicks and rough charging. He was a fine hustler and showed much team spirit.

Outdoor Track Team

WILLIAM BAUER
Coach

Under the capable direction of our coach, Mr. Bauer, the Central Track Team attained some success on the cinders. With a balanced combination of good sprinters, hurdlers and weight men and an equally balanced combination of effort and sportsmanship they were able to achieve an excellent season.

CLAUDE ELLIS

Claude, who made the team during his junior year, proved to be an outstanding runner and was difficult to beat.

JAMES JENKINS

Jim, a 3 year veteran was Central's big threat in the field events. His efforts and sportsmanship made him an outstanding member of the team.

ALVIN CLARK

Alvin, a valuable member of the outdoor team participated both in high and low hurdles for 3 seasons, earning his letter. He showed skill and sportsmanship.

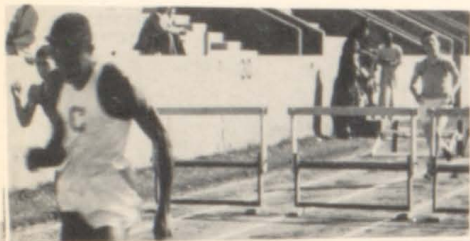

WILLIE HUTSON

Willie, an outstanding middle distance runner, took a place in the City Championship Meet while only a sophomore. His driving spirit made him one of the team's most dependable runners.

CHARLES EDWARDS

Charlie, on the track team for the past 2 seasons, developed into a reliable performer in the "100" and "220" yard dashes—something which earned him the admiration of everyone.
